The Journal of Contemplative Psychotherapy is published annually by The Naropa Institute. No part of this volume may be reproduced in any form (except for brief quotations, not to exceed 500 words, in a review or professional work) without permission in writing from the author and publisher.

Papers which address any aspect of psychology and psychotherapy will be considered for publication, but preference will be given to those including clear descriptions of clinical application and its relation to personal contemplative practice. Manuscripts should be double-spaced and submitted in triplicate to: The Editor, Journal of Contemplative Psychotherapy, The Naropa Institute, 2130 Arapahoe Ave., Boulder, CO 80302. The APA form is the preferred style of annotation and copyright clearance must be obtained by the author for all quotations from published works which exceed the permitted maximum. A list of endnote and bibliographic references should be provided on a separate sheet.

Authors may order offprints of their articles prior to printing.

Annual subscriptions are not available at this time. For information on back issues, write to Journal of Contemplative Psychotherapy, The Naropa Institute, 2130 Arapahoe Ave., Boulder, CO 80302.

VOLUME V CONTRIBUTORS

Paul Cashman has been a therapist for Maitri Psychological Services and has taught on the faculty of The Naropa Institute. He is currently a clinical therapist with the Nova Scotia Commission on Drug Dependency and is on the board of directors of Mental Health, Halifax.

Lodrö Dorje holds the position of Dorje Loppon or Dean of Practice and Study for Vajradhatu meditation centers. He is head of the Ngedon School of Higher Learning and the Nalanda Translation Committee.

Paul R. Fleischman practices psychiatry in Amherst, MA. He has been a vipassana meditation practitioner and student of Mr. S.N. Goenka since 1974. He is the author of The Healing Zone: Religious Issues in Psychotherapy (Paragon House Publishers), forthcoming in May, 1989.

Michael Herrick is currently doing home-based family counseling with the Family Strength Agency in Concord, New Hampshire. He was a mental health worker at an in-patient psychiatric hospital for eight years.

Bob Levitt is currently working as a psychotherapist at the Jefferson Center for Mental Health in Lakewood, Colorado.

Gerald V. Mohatt is Dean of the College of Rural Alaska, University of Alaska Fairbanks and Professor of Psychology. He has been involved for many years in clinical, community, and research work with native communities in the U.S. and Canada, recently concentrating on the relationship between indigenous healing and psychoanalysis.

Farrell R. Silverberg, Ph.D., is a clinical psychologist who practices psychotherapy and supervision in Philadelphia. He is currently working on a book called Holistic Psychotherapy.

The Vajra Regent Ösel Tendzin is the President of Vajradhatu, an international association of Buddhist meditation centers, and of Nalanda Foundation, the founding organization of The Naropa Institute. He is the author of Buddha in the Palm of Your Hand (Shambhala Publications, 1982).

Karen Kissel Wegela, Ph.D., is the co-director of the M.A. Psychology Program at The Naropa Institute. She practices psychotherapy in Boulder, Colorado.
